Why did I join the new donor registry?

“Because it helped my young children cope with the loss of their grandmother when they learned she had restored a little boy’s sight through donation. Because I lost my little girl shortly after that, and her gift of donation blessed two other moms with more time with their children.”

“Because I can help others make the most of each day.”

Organ donation is a personal decision. And now, it’s your decision.

Even if you said yes to organ donation before, you may need to say yes again. In 2008, Missouri’s organ and tissue donor registry law changed. If you registered before then, a family member is still required to give final consent before donation can occur. With the new registry, your documented decision will be honored, and your family members won’t be faced with that choice. If the donor heart symbol  is not on your license, please join the new registry today to make sure your life-giving voice will be heard.
